The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various methods of determining the rate of reaction. The most common method is the measurement of the change in concentration of one of the reactants or products over a period of time. This can be done by titration, gravimetry, or by using a colorimetric method. The rate of reaction can also be determined by measuring the change in pressure if the reaction involves a change in the number of moles of gas. The rate of reaction can also be determined by measuring the change in temperature if the reaction is exothermic or endothermic. The rate of reaction can also be determined by measuring the change in volume if the reaction involves a change in the number of moles of gas.
